

Trump's Education Cuts Will Impact You

In WYOMING, funding from the U.S. Department of Education:

✓ Supports over 94,000 kids across 300 Wyoming K-12 schools

- $46 million for Title I schools—which serve over 33,000 students—to guarantee every public school receives adequate funding and our kids have what they need to get ahead.
- $43.7 million for 16,000 of our kids who receive help like speech services, reading support or other assistance to get to appropriate grade levels, to ensure accessibility for students with disabilities.
- $6.7 million to ensure our schools are safe and teach life skills (through programs like career counseling), to set our kids up for success beyond the classroom.
- $6.5 million for before- and after-school programs to support working parents and for clubs and sports to help our kids lead well-rounded lives.
- $500,000 to support students learning English.
- $137,000 for students enrolled in schools in rural communities.
- $21.3 million to support students in military families or on Native American reservations.

Estimated cuts to services supporting our kids: $607.8 million

✓ Develops our workforce

- $7 million for career and technical education, including pathways to jobs through apprenticeship programs in traditional trades or STEM careers.
- $12 million to ensure people who want a job—including those with disabilities—have the skills and access to the services they need to help them find a job.

Estimated cuts to services supporting our workers: $19 million

✓ Invests in two- and four-year colleges and trade development

- $2 billion in federal student loans, supporting over 56,000 Wyomingites pursuing education beyond a high school diploma, including first-generation college students.
- $35 million in Pell grants, ensuring over 7,000 students can pursue a college degree regardless of income status.
- $300,000 to support students enrolled in Wyoming's tribal college and university.
- $8.4 million to help underrepresented students succeed—including those who are the first in their families to attend college, are from lower-income households or have disabilities.

Estimated cuts to services supporting our continuing students: $2.04 billion
